ABSTRACT

This directory and statistical information report provides data on 217 public libraries in Oregon, 64 academic libraries, and 172 special libraries within the state, as well as information on the Oregon State Library profiling each library within its appropriate type. Each of the four sections provides directory information (e..g, the library's address, telephone number, contact librarian, and, if appropriate, the fax number) and statistical tables that present data on library services, interlibrary lending, library collections, operating income, expenditures, service hours, attendance, use of volunteers, staffing, programming, and staff salaries. A series of charts and maps indicate the governance of public libraries by county and present an analysis of the public library statistics. This analysis includes the long- and short-term statistical trends of public libraries, sources of Oregon public library operating income in 1990-91, and the "top 20" ranking of public library performance in 1990-91. Special library directory entries also include the library hours and a statement as to whether the library is open to the public or accessible only by appointment, and the Oregon State Library section includes the names, addresses, and dates of term expirations of the state library's board of trustees and state advisory council representatives, as well as a list of Oregon's depository libraries. Introduction

The Directory and Statistics of Oregon Libraries 1991 provides information on 217 public libraries (main libraries and branches), 64 academic libraries, and 172 special libraries in the state, as well as information on the Oregon State Library. The directory information is compiled from questionnaires sent to each library and from other directory information sources. The statistics are also compiled from questionnaires received from the libraries in the fall of 1991. All of the libraries report statistics according to their own organizational year, which in the case of all of the public libraries and most of the academic libraries, ran from July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991.

The public library statistics are based on the Federal State Cooperative System for Public Library Data (FSCS) of the U. S. Department of Education, National Center for Education Statistics. This new system is designed to insure comparability of data between all 50 states, and will result, for only the second time this year, in a comprehensive national database of public library statistics. For the sixth year the academic library statistics were collected using a slightly modified version of the U. S. Department of Education's Integrated Post-Secondary Data System (IPEDS). The special library statistics were collected using a questionnaire adapted from IPEDS.

This year's Directory and Statistics contains several improvements over the 1990 edition. All of the directory entries this year include FAX numbers for those libraries with FAX machines. This year the State Library began requesting more detailed programming statistics from public libraries. A new statistical table (Table 2, p. 53) presents this information. The popular "Top 20" ranking of public library performance statistics has been expanded this year. This section now includes rankings based on statistical totals as well as on "per capita" statistics. Thanks to the help of a committee of special librarians convened with the assistance of the Oregon Chapter of the Special Libraries Association, the special libraries reporting form was greatly simplified this year. As a result, more special libraries submitted their statistics — a total of 76 as opposed to only 49 last year.

Last year the National Center for Education Statistics released statistical tables resulting from the Federal State Cooperative System for Public Library Data in time for us to publish maps comparing Oregon's public library statistics to those of other states. Unfortunately, this year the National Center decided against an early release of their data, and we were not able to include these comparisons in our publication. We will try to disseminate this information by some other means as soon as it is made available to us.

All of the statistical data that were submitted to the State Library are maintained in a computer database. The database was used to generate the statistical sections of this publication. Not all of the data are published, but only the data that we feel to be the most important and the most useful. We would welcome requests for any of the statistical data that we maintain, and are glad to generate special statistical reports to meet specific needs.

As always we would be pleased to receive any suggestions for improvements to the Directory and Statistics which would serve to make it a more useful publication.

For those of you who might be interested in the production of this document, a technical note: The State Library uses Apple Macintosh computers and Microsoft Excel software to maintain its database of library statistics. The publication itself involved the use of the Macintosh and Microsoft Excel, in addition to Microsoft Word, Cricket Graph, and SuperPaint. Copy production utilized an Apple LaserWriter Plus printer.

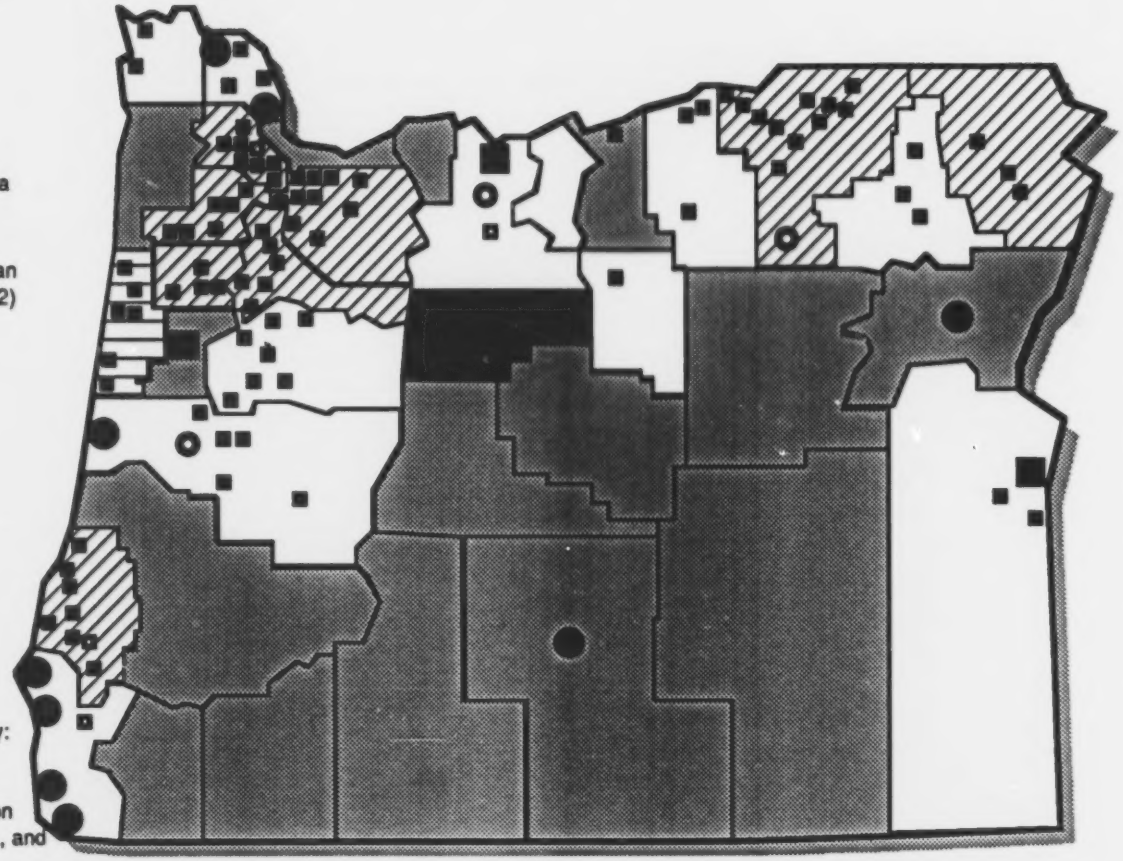
- Consolidated county libraries administered by counties. (12)
- Consolidated county library administered by a special library district. (2)
- Consolidated county library administered by a city under contract with a county. (1)
- Consolidated county library administered by a non-profit corporation under contract with a county. (1)
- Libraries administered by cities and serving an entire county under contract with a county. (2)
- Libraries administered by cities. (87)
- Libraries serving areas smaller than a county administered by special library districts. (7)
- Libraries administered by school districts. (3)
- Libraries administered by non-profit corporations receiving funds under contract with a county. (4)
- Special library district contracting with city libraries for library services to district residents. (1)
- Cooperative library systems administered by:
  1) counties (in Clackamas, Washington, Wallowa Cos.). (3)
  2) community college districts (in Polk, Marion Cos. and in portions of Linn and Yamhill Cos., and in Coos Co.) (2)
  3) special library district (Umatilla Co. excluding Hermiston) (1)



Note: The number in parentheses in the key refers to the number of libraries in that category. The total number of legally-established public libraries at the beginning of 1991-92 was 126.

Comparisons of Oregon Public Library Statistics Combined by County

Presented on the next four pages are comparisons of public library statistics by county. The data on which the comparisons are based was calculated by combining a given statistic for all of the public libraries or library cooperatives or systems within one county and dividing the result by the total county population (July, 1990). The purpose of this analysis is to be able to make a broad county-by-county assessment of library resources and services in the state. For all but one of the sixteen consolidated county library systems in Oregon (Baker, Benton, Crook, Deschutes, Douglas, Gilliam, Grant, Harney, Hood River, Jackson, Jefferson, Josephine, Klamath, Lake, Multnomah, Tillamook) the "combined" statistics are identical to their system statistics presented in Part 1.4 of this publication. The exception is Gilliam County which also has a city library in Arlington. For the remaining counties, please bear in mind the fact that the data for all of the independent libraries in the county are combined to arrive at the composite county figure. The combined county figure for these libraries may or may not reflect the services and resources of an individual library within a county. Statistics for the Chemeketa Cooperative Regional Library Service were omitted from the data due to the fact that CCRLS serves parts of four counties (Polk, Yamhill, Marion, Linn), and their statistics cannot be broken down by county. Also, in arriving at the data for the number of volumes of library materials per capita, a title count was substituted for a volume count in cases where a volume count was not available.
